freedom of education is the survival

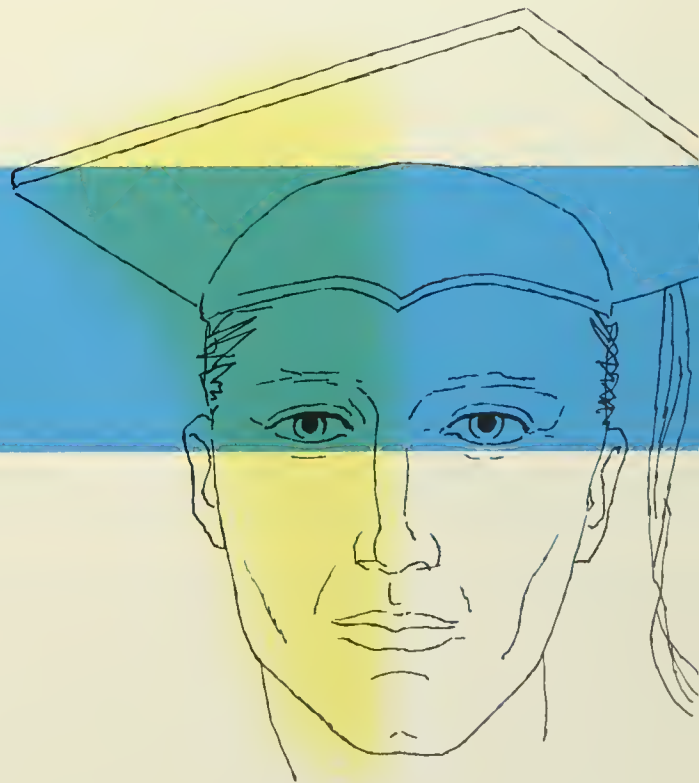

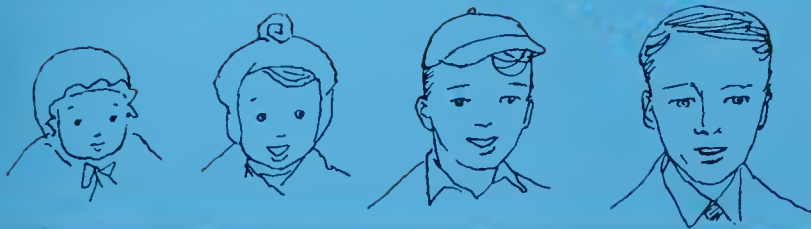

foreword

of a nation

M

ODERN EDUCATION is an unwritten partnership between teacher and student, a mutual, living adventure. In the pilot's seat is the teacher, leading in exciting exploration of the new—or groping in the clouds of antiquated notes. Beside him is the student, an eager companion, anxious to penetrate new horizons himself—or content to circle his own little field. Today a great country is stretching out its hands, offering to all this democratic education that the world has yet to equal—

student council

Foremost as an example of student-faculty co-operation, the Student Council acts as intermediary between these two groups and brings about a better understanding of the problems of each. The Council distributed suggestion boxes so students might place their problems or suggestions directly in the hands of the student government group. Council representatives supervised Freshman customs, established a Student Union, and generally played a part in the formulating of all student policies. Officers are president, Ed Tobin; vice-president, John Smith; secretary, Clara Jo Collaianni, Adviser, Mr. Whitmyre.

Dear Student Council:

There's nothing like a sandwich at the Union—gulp!

The Social Life Committee holds informal meeting.

social life

The Social Life Committee consists of five students appointed by the student council, Miss Kimball, Dr. Hall, and Mr. Whitmyre. The committee regulates the policies of all social activities on campus, plans Saturday night movies and dances and obtains faculty and student hosts for these events. The Cooperative Association has allocated the necessary funds to carry out a well-rounded social program throughout the school year.

Puccini's "La Boheme," presented by the Charles Wagner Opera company was the first presentation of the Cultural Life committee. Bringing to I.S.T.C. the best in cultural entertainment the group also presented the Barter Theater of Virginia in Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors," the dance group of Dudley, Masslow, and Bowles, Lowell Thomas, Jr., lecturer, and Adele Addison, soprano. A. E. Drumheller is the group's faculty adviser.

Let's book this for February.

religious life

Composed of six faculty members and nine students representing the various religious organizations, the Religious Life Committee plans the monthly college vesper programs and Spiritual Enrichment Week. Leaders for 1951 were provided by the University Christian Mission of Federal Council of Churches. Chairmen are Willard Brown and Dr. Hall.

advisory board

The advisory Board under the direction of Dr. Hall is an important function of the Resident Women's League. Acting upon cases of misdemeanor, the league reviews and gives counsel to the infractors. It also publishes a pamphlet for freshmen women to make their dormitory life happier and healthier.

resident women's league

Keeping eight hundred women happy isn't an easy job! Six committees of boarding women compose the league. They encourage good fellowship and create a well-rounded social life for all members through activities such as the freshman party, the Halloween party, and the sale of Christmas seals. Officers are president, Marilyn Hillegas; vice-president, Sally Hutton; secretary, Barbara Robertson; treasurer, Marlene Poorbaugh; adviser, Miss Faust.

non-resident women's league

Organized to bring together all women day students, the Non-Resident Women's League has proven to be a worthwhile college organization. Under the advisership of Dr. Hall, the league has enjoyed such social events as a fall and spring outing at the lodge, several teas and a Christmas party. Ruby Ralston serves as president; vice-president, Peggy Baylor; secretary-treasurer, Camella Adonata.

art club

The Education Art Conference and Eastern Arts professional meeting, in addition to a clothesline exhibit, and a trip to the Pittsburgh museum were feature events of the art club. Building of the "Art unites the nations" float, a beaux arts ball, and social outings were other activities of the group. Officers are president, George Klim; vice president, Jeff Landis; secretary, Betty Thomas; treasurer, Lloyd Madis; adviser, Dr. Kipp.

elementary club

A "welcome-elementary" party, followed by the Christmas party and a farewell dinner for the seniors in May constituted the activities of the Elementary Club, a branch of the Association for Childhood Education. The group also published the student directory which is made available to students of the college for a small fee. Officers are president, Dorothy Stephens; vice president, Lois Thomas; secretary, Pat Grote; treasurer, Joanne Wood; adviser, Miss Irene Russell.

home economics club

The Home Economics Club opened activities of the year with the fall freshman-sophomore party. Under the leadership of Pat Thomas, president; Nancy Bell, vice-president; Christine Cuppelli, secretary; Louise Bish, treasurer; and Miss Leola Hayes, adviser, the group planned a stimulating and exciting program for the year. The spring formal, Merry Go, terminated the social year.

junior chamber of commerce

The merchandise fair was the chief project of J.C.C. this year. The annual fall and spring outings, and the Christmas party for the Willard Home children were additional activities of the club. Officers are president, Jack Dean; vice-president, John Kraynack; secretary, Clara Jo Colaianni; Sally Hutton; treasurer John Laughner; and advisers, Mrs. Rineer and Mr. Stoner.

Let's not shove, please.

music educators

All students of the Music Department are automatically members of the Music Educators Club. The group, in cooperation with the faculty, sponsored various recitals and teas throughout the year. Student representatives elected by the club sat in on department faculty meetings, helping to determine departmental policies. Bill Howe is president; Lee Day, vice-president; Marilyn Blackburn, secretary; Dr. Clel Silvey, adviser.

secondary club

An award of fifty dollars was set aside for the first time by the club members to be given to a needy secondary student upon application. The Secondary Club also sponsored a spaghetti dinner at the lodge, float building, and a spring party. Officers are president, Coston Frederick; vice-president, Ronald Wohler; secretary, Sam Smith; treasurer, Don Leffler.

Here's proof—the age of chivalry is not dead.

The Winter Sports Club had an unusual experience this year—snow, enough snow for skiing and sledding. Members took advantage of it, holding many on-the-spot snow sessions with hot chocolate and cookies afterwards beside the lodge fireplace. In the snowless months hiking and roller-skating kept the muscles limber and the pants' seats in shape. Mr. Iams is adviser of the group.

'Hey, let me back on.'

english-speech club

Starting the year with a smaller but more active group, the English-Speech Club first overcame the problem of familiarizing themselves with five new faculty members. This was made easier by the fall outing at the lodge with various get-acquainted games, and other social events. The club members contribute an important part of the material for "The Student Writes", and many are active on other publications. Dr. Perkins and Dr. Stabley act as advisers for the group

masquers

One of the more progressive organizations on campus, the Masquers, I.S.T.C.'s drama group, successfully finished a year which will be remembered for its theatrical merit. Under the leadership of Keith Richards, president, and Robert Ensley, faculty adviser, the group presented a number of one-act plays, several three-act plays, and were active both on stage and backstage in many convocation programs. Masquers were also heard in several of the WDAD Monday evening college programs.

Open to all students, the International Relations Club promotes forums to discuss contemporary world problems. The club sent delegates to Toronto, Canada for the Middle States Regional Conference sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation for Universal Peace. Members also attended a model United Nations which met at Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pennsylvania. Officers are president Maurice Zacur; vice-president, John Nace; secretary, George Funk; treasurer, William Gennacro; co-advisers, Miss Belden and Miss Wallace.

i. c. g.

Including in its membership students interested in government problems, the Intercollegiate Conference on Government promotes in its meetings the discussion of current political topics. This year the members attended a four-day convention at Harrisburg, where, as representatives to a model congress, they gained experience in the application of governmental procedure. Officers are president, James Cornell; vice-president, Donald Hahn; secretary-treasurer, Jane Tuck; adviser, Mr. Johnson.

This year's regional meeting of the Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science, under chairman Virginia McVeigh, was the largest in the state, attracting hundreds of high school students and teachers. Among other activities were field trips and a dinner at the lodge. Officers are president, Don Leffler; vice-president, Shelia Burke; secretary, Thelma Kuzmen; treasurer, Jack McLaughlin.

The Marching Band lines up between halves on Memorial Field.

With its new fast-step style of marching and extravaganza half-time shows, this year's Marching Band was quite a sensation. The band accompanied the football team to Slippery Rock and California and played host to ten high school bands at the annual high school band day. David McNaughton is director.

concert band

The College Concert Band is open to all students, both men and women who perform proficiently on their instruments. Under the baton of David McNaughton the group presented a spring concert and appeared in various convocations. Members of the band attended the Intercollegiate Band Festival held this year at Lehigh University.

The Concert Band entertains at Convocation.

men's glee club

Under the direction of Charles Davis, the Men's Glee Club is open to all men. It was heard first over WDAD during the Community Chest drive in the fall and later sang at vespers and at the Christmas Party presented the traditional Boars Head carol. The Glee Club gave its peak performance at its annual spring concert.

year has gone far toward achieving its musical goals. Under the competent leadership of Miss Pearl Reed, the group was heard over WDAD and appeared in convocation and various special programs.

college choir

The College Choir is composed primarily of upper-class Music students, but is open to all students who can meet the entrance requirements. The choir first appeared under its new conductor, Wynn York, in the fall and was later heard in the annual Christmas pageant. The choir also presented a concert in Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh.

One of the most popular and professional groups on campus, the Mellowmen led by Mr. Charles Davis provided music for both Laughter and Swingout shows. In addition to their on-campus activities, the group traveled to several area schools where they played the dual role of entertainers and public relations agents for I.S.T.C.

women's glee club

Open to all interested women the glee club furnished special musical numbers at some of the Sunday evening vespers services and appeared in annual White Gift Service. Conducted by Miss Agnes Bothne, the Women's Glee Club also appeared in convocation and was heard over station WDAD.

symphony orchestra

The symphony orchestra provides a rich musical experience for its members and contributes to the cultural life of the college. The orchestra performed in several convocation programs and was heard on WDAD Manday evening college programs. The group is conducted by Mr. Lawrence Stitt.

young men's christian association

Brotherhood... key to the YMCA's achievements! The "Y" activities, a snipe hunt for frosh men, hayride, dinner at the lodge, all-school dance, picnic in May, and the retreat at Dr. Hoffmaster's cabin were all aimed to foster fellowship and maintain a religious atmosphere on campus. Officers are president, Warren Evans; vice-president, Robert Decker; secretary-treasurer, Dale Young; chaplain, Robert Agnew.

young women's christian association

The big-little sister party, monthly teas, and the membership dinner followed by a candlelight retreat highlighted this year's "Y" social program. The organization also sponsored a clothing drive and conducted Wednesday morning watch services. Officers are president, Dorothy Woods; vice-president, Shelia Burke; secretary, Catherine Barger; treasurer, Marian Zets; assistant treasurer, Sue Kinsey; advisers, Miss Murdock, Mrs. Swarts, and Miss Waugaman.

erskine club

The Erskine Club, sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church, had a varied program which appealed to both members and their friends. A chili dinner, hayride, Thanksgiving breakfast and Christmas party were all a part of the club's activities, which were designed to meet both the spiritual and recreational needs of its members. Officers are president, Norma Billman; vice-president, Judy Adams; secretary, Robert Agnew; treasurer, Vance Ench; adviser, Dr. Clinton File.

lutheran student association

Kicking off with a football party, the Lutheran Student Association scored many touchdowns in their activities. The recruiting party, the outing with the Pittsburgh L.S.A. and the Sunday supper discussion meetings were a few favorites. Members attended the Gettysburg Regional Conference and a retreat at Camp Lutherlyn. Officers are president, Virginia Sumner; vice-president, Verna Miller; secretary, Marilyn Mooney; treasurer, Bob Decker; advisers, Miss Borge and Mrs. Rineer.

Step lively, it's the get-acquainted march!

Now this is a nice shirt.

methodist club

The Freshman get-acquainted party began Methodist Club's year with a bang. The group planned a variety of activities such as a hobo party, hayride, the cookie bake and the Christmas party. Climaxing the year's events was the annual May breakfast. Officers are president, Laurita McKinney; vice-president, Dolores Elden; secretary, Peggy Kracht; treasurer, Robert Shaffer; adviser, Miss Lola Beelar.

newman club

This year Newman Club members became acquainted with the Christopher Movement and directed their religious endeavors toward it. Members also enjoyed the bowling league, outings, and Communion breakfast at the Catholic center. Officers are president, Inez McGreevy; vice-president, Jane Connell; secretary, Eileen Henzel; treasurer, Mary Louise Walley.

Canterbury Club members meet in McElhaney Hall.

presbyterian club

As its main activity the Presbyterian Club sponsored a midsemester caravan to New York and sent representatives to various conferences. Members enjoyed a retreat at the lodge, a hobo party, the Christmas dinner, and an Easter breakfast. Group study was directed toward "The Christian Life." Officers are president, Sara Austin; vice-president, Irene Snyder; secretary-treasurer, Betty Borger; adviser, Miss Jane Blue.

canterbury club

Sponsored by the Episcopal Church the Canterbury Club is a relatively new religious organization on campus. The group held regular monthly meetings and supported all functions of the Religious Life Committee which acts as a campus co-ordinator. Officers are president, Willard Brown; vice-president, Janet Dickson; secretary-treasurer, Suzanna Kinsey; adviser, Robert Grazier.

The Lord is my shepherd

campus christian fellowship

As a newly organized group at I.S.T.C. the Campus Christian fellowship has been established to strengthen Christian living through Bible study and prayer. The club is inter-denominational. Officers are president, Esther Johnson; vice-president, Jane Hoyman; secretary, John Felix; treasurer, Joanne Duncan; adviser, Miss Ober.

the cue

Used as a handbook and guide; the Cue is a collection of practical information necessary to the understanding of the various regulations, activities and organizations on campus. Members of the staff are Editor, Evelyn Dilts; Assistant Editors, Sam Thomas, Rebecca Hill, Vivian Gall, Janet Schnell, Frank Clark.

the Oak

Conceived and styled in an informal manner, modern yearbooks are living albums, portraying samplings of myriad episodes that sparkle in the student's memory. To keep pace with an age of informality and realism, the college and student life must necessarily be presented as they actually are—in natural settings. As such an album, the 1951 OAK endeavors to embrace education as a living experience—one that will live beneath its cover indefinitely.

Sigma Sigma Sigma delved into the happy side of sorority life by having a get-together at the lodge in the fall. They were represented at Homecoming by a float in the annual parade and a coffee hour for alumni was held after the game. The "Tri Sigs" successfully carried on pledging activities each semester and enjoyed a Christmas party in December. Founders' Day was observed April 20. The year was brought to a close by a party for the seniors.

Representatives from each fraternity and an adviser make up the inter-fraternity council; this group creates and maintains a spirit of cooperation among the fraternities. Recreation hall was the scene of the annual inter-frat dance in November. Decorations for the affair included a large statue of Venus surrounded by Greek letters and letters of the fraternities represented were used on the pillars along the walls. In his sophomore year as Chief of the Big Indians, Coach Sam Smith, and his grid machine battled all-teacher opposition to a four won, four lost and one tied record to repeat last year's performance. Two new opponents, Kutztown and Bloomsburg, replaced St. Vincent and Steubenville on the 1950 schedule.

Playing on foreign gridirons for three consecutive weekends, the Big Braves notched a hard-earned tie with Kutztown and victories over Mansfield and California. McGlaughlin, Conley, Krupper, and Grabiak teamed up with the aerial arm of quarterback Shaffer to spoil the homecomings of Mansfield and California. The Indians continued undefeated as they rolled over Edinboro at Indiana's own homecoming and followed with a victory over Slippery Rock, the first since 1942.

Fighting Clarion upset the revenge-seeking Indians to end their bid for an undefeated season and the Bald Eagles from Lock Haven added loss number two to Indiana's slate as they splashed out a victory on a rain-drenched field. In the last two games Indiana had upsets in the making before being subdued by powerful Shippensburg and Bloomsburg.

basketball

At the close of the 1950-51 basketball season, the Indiana quintet under the capable tutorship of Coach Regis McKnight brought to an end one of the most successful years the college has ever had on the hardwood. The record of twelve wins against five losses is ample proof of their success.

Looking back over the five setbacks, the big Indians met defeat at the hands of Thiel, Shippensburg, Clarion, Carnegie Tech and California. The records show that all of these teams, with the exception of Carnegie Tech, were tomahawked by Indiana's "Big Five" in previous or return encounters.

The locals can also boast of a perfect season on their home floor, which was a major factor in their climb to the top of the State Teachers basketball bracket.

Coach Sam Smith's powerful Indian nine turned in an enviable record this year, winning nine, losing three and tying one. The well-drilled Indiana team consisted of Moreskonich at first, Scott at second, Bloom at shortstop and Krizmanich at third. Reed, Krupper and Grabiak patrolled the outfield with Milyak receiving the offerings of Indian hurlers, J. C. Swauger, Pete Palmer, Bob Coleman and Jack Blehart.

A tie game with Shippensburg started the season which showed wins over Slippery Rock (8-7), Clarion (5-3), St. Vincent (14-5, 8-7), St. Francis (2-0, 7-6), Shippensburg (6-4), Thiel (4-0) and Millersville (12-11). The Vulcans from California edged the Redmen twice (4-3, 3-2), while Thiel recorded the Indian's other setback (10-8).

Big Indians Al Milyak, Mork Krizmanich, Joe Moreskonich and Andy Daskivich don't quite agree with the base umpire's decision and the plate "ump" plays it smart by appearing unconcerned and keeping out of the argument.

Challenged by a testing eight-match schedule featuring intercollegiate competition and participation in the Juniata Invitational Tournament, the Indiana golf team successfully completed its third year as a varsity sport. The ledger for the 1950 season showed the Brave divot-diggers, coached by George P. Miller, and Rhodes Stabley, winning three and losing five matches. Victories were recorded over California twice and St. Francis once, while Slippery Rock edged the locals twice. Single setbacks were suffered at the hands of Duquesne, Edinboro, and St. Francis. soccer

Fast growing in popularity and student support, soccer attracted many fans in the fall. Although strengthened with the return of many regulars, the local booters had trouble in mustering enough recruits to fill out a well-balanced squad. Even with this handicap, Coach Ray Bernabei's men turned out a respectable four won, one tied and six lost record.

The Indians recorded wins over St. Francis (1-0, 3-2) and Kiski (2-1, 3-1). Losses were dealt out by Slippery Rock (0-4), Grove City (1-2), Edinboro (1-4), Thiel (2-5), Lock Haven (1-7) and Bloomsburg (0-6). The only stalemate of the 1950 season was a 2-2 scuffle with a powerful Carnegie Tech eleven.

Richard Magner, George Stetter, Bob Scalpello (manager), Nick Ostrasky, Coach S. Trevor Hadley, Fred Way. Frant: William Boyd.

Handicapped by a lack of practice courts which were being resurfaced, Coach Trevor Hadley's tennis squad opened the season with a whitewashing at the hands of Shippensburg. Then followed two defeats by Clarion and Colifornia, both by 8-1 scores. Three more shellackings came in rapid succession when Duquesne (7-2), Kiski Prep (3-2), and Shippensburg (9-0) emerged victorious over the oft-defeated but hard-fighting racquetteers.

swimming

Starting with a team comprised chiefly of newcomers, local swimmers learned that experience is a big factor in producing a winning team. The team entered competition under Coach Sam Smith due to the illness of regular swimming Coach George Miller. Indiana's untried swimmers lost to Kiski (18-43), Edinboro (11-60) and Lock Haven (19-46) in the local pool. The tankmen's only away meet was at Slippery Rock where they absorbed an (11-65) defeat at the hands of the powerful Rocket squad.

Men's intramural sport season began with six touch-football teams romping the green. The Phi Sigs tagged out opposition to win the championship. From a field of fourteen teams in the Shaughnessy play-offs, a new feature of the basketball loops, the Phi Sig "B" team emerged victorious to cap the Deeds trophy. Soccer and softball appeared on the spring slate.

Archery, badminton, tennis and bowling attracted a greatly increased number of women to the intramural sport lineups; 180 battled over the volleyball net alone. The Terrarites snatched the basketball championship from eleven well-manned teams. Softball filled the spring agenda.

men's varsity "I"

The aims of the Men's Varsity "I" are to promote sportsmanship, to provide competent and capable teams to represent the college in intercollegiate competition, and to furnish financial aid to the athlete. Membership in this organization requires that an individual win a letter in any one of the major sports of the college. Joseph Wallace is president of the group.

Culture and worthwhile pleasures . . . the deeper values of happiness.

What is it that makes an event a highlight? Great names help, so does good music. But even more important is student cooperation—nothing that is memorable could have been accomplished without it. The events included on these pages are those that were attended by most students, and they will be remembered in accordance with the spirit they aroused.

For freshmen the first memorable experience was customs, conducted by last year's victims and designed primarily not to humiliate but to give a feeling of belongingness after the newcomers had proven themselves good sportsmen. Eugene O'Neil's "Ah, Wilderness" was presented by the summer workshop a week after registration, initiating the year's stage productions with a gay comedy.

In the second week of October, Homecoming brought three days of gala festivities. On Friday, float-building and the opera "La Boheme" set the holiday pace. Saturday came with just enough rain to dampen the floats but not the optimistic spirits. All was clear by parade time. The Alpha Sigma Taus shone through to cop the trophy with their "Basket-of-Sunflowers" float.

Numerous parties and teas livened the chilled fons after the thrilling first home football game. A one-act play and dance filled out the day. This weekend also marked the opening of the Cooperative Art Exhibit at McElheny Hall. Other October programs included the beginning of college vespers at Fisher Auditorium, the Virginia Barter Theater's version of "Comedy of Errors," the Central-Western Education Conference, and the Symposium in Music Education.

October and November were months of dances. The Senior Prom held in an atmosphere of "Heaven" late in October featured Dave Dysert and his band. "Satan's Ball" was the clever theme of the Sophomore Prom. Two weeks later Recreation Hall became the decorative setting for "Venus's Ball", the annual Interfraternity Dance.

A Fisher Auditorium crowd drawn by Woody Herman's Orchestra added to the fund for new band uniforms. High school band day, with strutting majorettes and snappy marches, also provided fine music. Faculty members and their families gathered for their annual fall outing and dinner at the lodge later in the month.

Typical college scenes in "Goodbye My Fancy" made the Mosquers' first semester presentation enjoyable. Lowell Thomas, Jr. and his wife gave an illustrated lecture on their travels in Tibet. One-act plays, movies, dances and rush parties, appeared on sign-out lists along with club outings and dinner parties. Christmas projects were undertaken by sorority, fraternity, and club groups. They included parties for underprivileged children and gifts of money, food, and toys to needy families. The annual Boar's Head Carol and Christmas dinner-dance sent students home imbued with the holiday spirit.

Vacation over—back to exams and another short trip home before midsemester registration. Then to new classes with resolutions to keep better notes. A change in administration, too, greeting Miss Faust as new Dean of Women and wishing Miss Kimball happiness in her retirement. Dr. Eastment was added to our medical staff. Laughter skits were all so enjoyable that it was quite a task singling out Alpha Sigma Tau and Sigma Tau Gamma as trophy winners. Dudley, Mosslow, Bowles and Company became the first professional contemporary dance group to perform at Fisher Auditorium. Its appearance parallels the rising campus interest in this art form.

George Bernard Shaw's challenging comedy, "Pygmalion," was a masterful second semester production of the Masquers. The "Pagan Love Song" created a dreamy atmosphere for the Freshman Prom as the cave men dragged their dates to Recreation Hall. Smart ROTC uniforms appeared at ISTC this year. Many tried to forget what they stand for yet were glad for their presence. War correspondent, William Costello, a cultural life presentation, urged the necessity of preparation and willingness to serve when called upon. Blood donors heeded his advice by answering the plea of the local Red Cross.

Spiritual Enrichment week which was held during the first part of March added a serious note to campus activities through forums and interesting "bull" sessions. The "Four Chiefs" aided the student council in its "Mile-of-Pennies" dance, another means used to raise money for new band uniforms. Dr. Hoffmaster was almost a regular entertainer, always ready with his demonstrations in magic. Work on the new one million dollar Men's Dormitory was started in the fall and put into full swing with the coming of spring weather.

March kept the business students busy with the Merchandise Fair and the scientists busy with the Science Fair and Atomic Energy Conference. April and fair weather brought out the hiking shoes while the Panhellenic Dance, Junior Prom, Beaux-Arts Ball and ROTC Military Ball threatened to wear out dancing shoes. Swing-out festivities featuring Barbara Anderson as Senior Queen culminated in the stage presentation of "A Connecticut Yankee." Alumni Day brought back many former students and shortly thereafter commencement closed the doors on another year at ISTC.

Informal teacher-student relations . . . a rich partnership in learning.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt,
President of ISTC.

Challenged with the responsibility of producing capable, well-adjusted educators during a period plagued with threats to democracy and marked by unrest, Dr. Willis E. Pratt has succeeded in turning democratic theory into reality.

A staunch believer of student leadership in education, he has expanded provisions for this valuable training by making it an integral part of the curriculum.

Results of his efforts are discernible not only in student spirit but also in many improvements to the school itself.

Among the most notable of these was the materialization of the $1,000,000 new Men's Dormitory.

students make the college

Any institution of higher learning has made many valuable resources. The college plant, the education and experience of its staff, the library and instructional equipment, the financial support of the commonwealth and Alumni are all valuable assets of Indiana.

But all of these are important only as they influence the personal, intellectual, social and spiritual development of the young men and women who make up the student body. Above all, the students are the most priceless resource of any institution.

At Indiana we believe we have students dedicated to the high purpose of preparing themselves to teach others. All of the efforts of the staff are directed toward the single purpose that they will be well equipped to help others educate themselves. The history and traditions of the college, its plant and facilities and its staff are important. But the students are even more so.

administration

In keeping with the trend toward a more democratic, student-centered educational philosophy, the administration maintains a policy of frankness and sincerity. Necessary rules and regulations are products of the combined efforts of student leaders and administrators. In addition to guiding the student body, this staff has the tremendous job of handling various matters of finance, individual records and public relations. Co-ordinating these in a system of efficient and co-operative service makes our college function smoothly.

With an increased emphasis on democracy through education, a state teachers college faculty takes on a new and important role, far above that of mere teachers. Add to this the local tendency to relax student-teacher relationship via the faculty title of "adviser" rather than "sponsor" and you may have some idea of the problems faced by the I.S.T.C. tutors. The simple fact that there is a genuine informality in the classroom is an indication of educational progress.

Indiana. As Freshmen we looked in awe at her buildings, wondering and waiting to find what they held in store. As the years passed, we learned their purpose. We discovered the true path and pursued our course until we have now attained our goal—graduation. With four years of Indiana behind us, we look ahead with a better understanding of a teacher's problems. Casting a backward glance we remember Indiana as a home and as a symbol of many cherished memories.

In addition to the campus Lab School, various schools, in Altoona, Blairsville, Clearfield, Dayton, Ebensburg, Greensburg, Indiana, Johnstown, Kittanning, Punxsutawney, and Windber played an important role in giving experience to America's future teachers. YOUR FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT STORE

Here in effect is a financial department store where you can take care of all your money matters.

Have you ever thought of the many things you can buy at our bank?

For instance, there's safety for the money you deposit with us; the convenience of paying bills by check instead of cash; protection for your valuable papers and articles through rental of a safe deposit box just to name a few of the things our bank has on its shelves. You can also hire the use of money when you need it in business or for personal needs. You can finance a new home, a new car, new household equipment, home repairs, insurance premiums, educational courses and dozens of other sound projects.
